GRAFTED JUNIPERS

Evergreens, like other varieties of trees, are constantly being improved, and we have devoted a number of years to producing trees that are outstanding in color and habit of growth. To obtain these results, we graft from trees that we have carefully selected and held under observation long enough to prove their superior qualities. In these grafted types only it is possible to have perfect mates as to color of foliage and uniformity of growth. See description of the following varieties in our beautifully illustrated folder.
